REPORT

OF THE

COMMITTEE OF MANAGEMENT,

For the Year ending 1884.

N presenting their Twenty-ninth Annual Report, your Committee are pleased to be enabled to submit a much more encouraging Balance Sheet than that of last year. The subscriptions are £124 6s. 6d. in excess, which increase is considerably more than one-third of the total of the preceding collection, and the donations received show a still more satisfactory progression, reaching the sum of £568 11s. 3d., as against £233 2s. 4d. last year. This has empowered your Committee to re-place £100 of the £200 of Corporation Bonds they were compelled to sell in 1883; also to pay off the debt of £72 17s. 4d. due to the Treasurers, and to leave a balance in hand of £63 12s. 11d. They have been compelled to incur some extra ordinary expenses, in the shape of repairs and painting of the Hospital, amounting to £58 6s. 9d., and a new kitchen range, at a net cost of £20 16s. 8d., which expenditure had been reluctantly deferred in the past, and now became an imperative necessity.

The work of the Hospital has also evidenced considerable development. During the year the number of in-patients has been 201, showing an increase of 22 over the previous year, and the number of out-patients has reached 1003, giving an increase of 72, the total being 1204, against 1110 in 1883. These unprecedented figures speak unmistakably of the growth in estimation in which this Charity is regarded, both by the poorer classes and by the public at large. In looking back into the records for the past ten years, your Committee are gratified to find that the number of in and out-patients treated has more than doubled itself during that time.

Your Committee again point with satisfaction to the economy exercised in the domestic arrangements of the Hospital. Twenty-seven beds, with a cot or two occasionally, have been in constant requisition. Their average cost of maintenance has been but £29 9s. 5½d., and estimating the cost of out-patients at 2s. each, the total weekly expenditure has not been more than £15 6s. 1d. It will thus be seen that their household disbursements have but little increased, whilst the usefulness of the Institution has considerably extended.

Your Committee have to report with much regret the death of Mr. Frederick W. Skipper, who, since April 3rd, 1878, had most kindly fulfilled the laborious duties of Honorary Secretary. His successor had to be sought almost immediately after the annual meeting, and before the accounts and reports for the year had been put into circulation. They have been successful in inducing Mr. Charles Edwin Noverre to accept the position, and with his business training and experience they are confident the work will lose nothing in his hands.

Through pressure of professional engagements Dr. C. W. Doyle tendered his resignation as Assistant Surgeon, which your Committee reluctantly accepted. Mr. T. H. Morse, F.R.C.S., has been unanimously elected to the vacant post.

Your Committee have also to notify the resignation of their Matron (Miss Wenlock), who for the past six years has rendered the Institution invaluable service, and whose conscientious and unremitting attention to her duties has aided not a little in bringing the Charity into its present excellent condition. Miss Wenlock's desire for a larger sphere of usefulness is alone the cause of her leaving, and though your Committee were successful in inducing her to reconsider a similar decision last year, they feel with unfeigned regret that, in the face of a repetition of her resignation, they can no further press their wishes for the continuance of her valued services. It is also right to mention that Miss Wenlock conscientiously refused to accept the increase of salary voted her last year, as she felt the work and resources of the Hospital did not justify it. Your Committee have received many eligible applications for the vacant post from ladies with large experience in hospital work and training, accompanied by the highest possible testimonials. To their perusal and in their selection your Committee have given considerable attention, and they are pleased to report that they have been successful in securing the services of Miss Katherine Peter, who comes with the highest recommendations from the Children's Hospital at Pendlebury, Manchester—one of the first in the kingdom—and they have strong confidence that Miss Peter will not only maintain the present character of the Institution, but will give the Committee the benefit of her present experience and professional education in further developing its resources.

Following a suggestion made to them by one of their friends, your Committee propose to make an annual collection in all the Sunday and Day Schools in the city on behalf of this Institution and the Eastern Counties' Children's Convalescent Home at Yarmouth. Being anxious in no way to clash with or oppose themselves to the object of the Norwich Hospital Sunday Fund, they have approached the Committee of that Fund with a view of securing their sanction to the movement. This has not only been accorded, but the scheme has met with their hearty approval and sympathy. At the Annual Meeting of the Hospital Sunday Fund on the 3rd of December, the Lord Bishop of the Diocese warmly commended the movement, and stated that he had no doubt it would be attended with a considerable measure of success. He was sure that young hearts would be glad to show their thankfulness and their sympathies with others of their own age who were suffering, and ministered to, in these Institutions. It is hoped that your Committee may be able to make the proposed Collection about Valentine's Day.

Your Committee desire to cordially welcome the establishment of the Children's Convalescent Home at Yarmouth. Through the kindness of the subscribers they have been enabled to hand on to that Institution twenty-three patients whose strength required restoration at the sea-side. The results have, in most cases, been very marked.

A list of most serviceable gifts, received during the year, is appended, and these your Committee beg to gratefully acknowledge.

Mr. J. C. Barnham, Mrs. Bowden, Messrs. Jewson & Sons, Mr. Robert Page, Mr. Elward P. Simpson, Miss Stone, Mr. John Underwood, and Mr. George Wilson have been added to the list of Life Governors.

A statement of the accounts, which have been audited, is herewith submitted.

J. J. WINTER, CHAIRMAN.

MEDICAL OFFICERS' REPORT.

During the year 1884, 1204 patients have been under medical or surgical treatment. Of these 201 were in and 1003 out-patients. Of the in-patients 107 were cured, 17 relieved, 7 died, 25 had operations performed on them, and 23 were sent to the Convalescent Home.

Of the out-patients the record is so incomplete that no statement of any value can be made.

The number of patients under treatment yearly increases, and the amount of medical relief given may be to a certain extent estimated by the number of applications for medicine. These have been about twelve thousand.

Many of the applications for admission are from persons well able to pay for medical advice. If the Governors would make some inquiry into the social position of those not personally known to them, this abuse would in a great measure be abolished.

An unusual number of infants under two years of age have been sent to the Hospital with in-patient recommendations. Your staff are of opinion that the rule forbidding the admission of children under that age except for operation should be strictly adhered to.

The nursing of the patients gives no grounds for complaint. Under the able superintendence of Miss Wenlock it has been well carried out; but the medical-officers are of opinion that the welfare of the little sufferers would be more effectually attended to if the Institution could retain the services of such of the nurses as the staff deem desirable, after their period of training has been completed.

Additional rules in reference to the nursing department might well be now considered.

The fever ward has been used for one case only, and it is probably owing to the complete isolation the ward affords that more cases of infection did not take place. The Hospital is destitute of splints, cradles, and similar appliances. A small sum of money judiciously expended in the purchase of apparatus of this kind would greatly add to the comfort of the patients.

The Convalescent Home has been of the greatest benefit to many of the patients; some have had their health improved previous to undergoing operative treatment, and others have been completely restored to health and strength, when, had it not been for the Home, they would have returned to their parents still requiring the careful attention necessary for some convalescents.

The resignation of Miss Wenlock is much to be regretted by the medical staff. The earnest good wishes and esteem of those with whom she has worked for more than six years will follow her to that wider sphere which, it is hoped, her undoubted abilities will enable her to obtain.

Jenny Lind Infirmary.

FROM THE "EASTERN DAILY PRESS," JANUARY 15th, 1885.

The annual meeting of the friends of the Jenny Lind Infirmary for Sick Children was held yesterday. It is pleasing to notice that the report is of a gratifying character. The energy of the honorary secretary and the loving zeal of some of the ladies of the Committee have not been exercised without effect. Last year, strange to say, it was necessary to send up a little plaintive cry on behalf of the sick children, for funds were decreasing and a shadow hung over the hospital of the wounded lambs of the Good Shepherd. The public listened to the utterance of distress, and this year the Committee have been enabled to replace half the Corporation Bonds they had been obliged to sell. We would direct the attention of our readers to the report which we print elsewhere, and endeavour to enlist their sympathy on behalf of this truly Christian institution. For twenty-nine years it has scattered its immeasurable blessings among the little ones of our city. For twenty-nine years it has gathered out of the homes of penury the sick among the children; and not only brightened the hours of their suffering, but given to them in after years grateful and pleasant remembrances, and possibly exercised an influence to mould and refine their mature life. Many useful men and women, who would probably have dwindled under disease and died in infancy in their miserable homes for want of adequate care and nursing, are now living in our midst, a testimony to the value of the Norwich Children's Hospital. During the present year the Infirmary has received within its walls 201 in-patients, and it has administered help and medicine to 1003 out-patients. These facts will plead with our readers for increased aid to this most divine and human of all our medical charities, so that an increased number of the little sufferers pining in the close rooms of lanes and alleys, through unhealthy food and unskilful nursing, may be brought within the sweet influences of pure air, kindly voices, gentle hands, skilful treatment, and bright and cheerful surroundings. We regret to notice that the able and zealous matron (Miss Wenlock), who has for six years been as a good spirit to the children, has resigned, through her desire to fill a larger sphere of usefulness. The report furnishes a high testimony to her worth, and there can be no doubt that the institution has profited largely by her experience. The Committee are fortunately in a position to announce that they have succeeded in obtaining the services of a lady from the Children's Hospital at Pendlebury, and it is to be hoped that she will prove a worthy successor to Miss Wenlock. It is proposed to have a collection in all the Sunday and day schools year by year to augment the funds of the institution. This is a happy thought, and it should be productive of a happy result. At the same time, the friends of the institution look to the general public for continued and even increased support. All parents who have the means should subscribe to the Jenny Lind Infirmary for Sick Children. Their own household darlings plead for those of other homes where there are insufficient light and fire and food and tenderness and skill. Many mothers who love their children are too poor and too ignorant and too worried with anxiety and care to make proper provision for them in times of illness. For the sick children placed in these circumstances the Hospital affords a glimpse of heaven. We commend its claims to our readers, and we are assured that it will not fail for want of public support.

REPORT

COMMITTEE OF MANAGEMENT.

T is with feelings of deep thankfulness that your Committee present their first Report. This Institution, which, as is well-known, is an outcome and expansion of the Cottage Home established at Cromer through the kindness of Mrs. Hoare in 1883, has already taken root, and been supported beyond their most sanguine anticipations. The inaugural venture proved such an unqualified success that efforts were at once made to secure a permanent Convalescent Home for children. But as no suitable house could be procured at Cromer, the locale was changed, and Yarmouth was selected, not only as being easier of access, but also because it was thought that a substantial welcome might be expected from the inhabitants of that busy and influential centre. In this latter your Committee have not been disappointed. They were, however, debarred from entering into the occupancy of the first house selected, viz., 34, Camperdown Place, by the threat of legal proceedings induced by fears of infection which were utterly groundless. Your Committee, after taking counsel's opinion, were advised, under the peculiar terms of the lease, not to dispute the point but to seek fresh quarters. These they subsequently secured on the Euston Road, Marine Parade, North, and on the 2nd May your Committee met at Yarmouth, and after inspection of the premises, and upon the recommendation of their Medical-Officer—Mr. W. E. Wyllys—they agreed to hire their present house at a yearly rental of £50, subject to the assent of the Town Council of Yarmouth, which Mr. Charles Diver subsequently secured for them at the Town Council meeting on May 13th.

They then appointed Miss Wenlock (with the sanction of the Committee of the Jenny Lind Hospital) as Lady Superintendent, and subsequently and upon the highest testimonials Miss Ellen Turner as Resident Matron. This arrangement has worked most satisfactorily, but in consequence of the much-regretted resignation of Miss Wenlock some fresh disposition must now be made, and your Committee propose to merge the two offices into one, and they are gratified to report that these duties Miss Turner is willing to undertake.

The laborious business of furnishing and fitting up the Home, forming rules for the Committee of Management and for the admission of children, and the issue of appeals to the public for assistance were then undertaken, and, as the accompanying accounts will show, with the most satisfactory results.

Special reference must be made to the Cot Fund, the particulars of which are annexed, which was inaugurated through the kindness of Mrs. Goulburn, whose example has proved most happily contagious. The result is that twenty-four pretty cots, furnished complete with three sets of linen, have been presented to the Home. The original cost of about £6 each has been so reduced by the large number required, that the donors will be gratified to know that a surplus has been obtained, which has been applied in furnishing the children's dormitories. Very many other generous gifts have been bestowed, and a detailed acknowledgement of such will be found appended.

Your Committee have been fortunate in securing for this Institution the patronage of their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales, the Lord Lieutenant of Norfolk and the Countess of Leicester, the Lord Lieutenant of Suffolk and the Countess of Stradbroke, the Lord Bishop of the Diocese, and that of many other influential personages. They have nominated Mr. Edward Birkbeck, M.P., as President, and Sir Edmund H. K. Lacon, Bart., M.P., and Mr. J. J. Colman, M.P., as Vice-Presidents, positions which these gentlemen have most kindly accepted and substantially recognised.

The working of the Home actually commenced on the 10th of June, when the Mayor of Norwich (Dr. Eade)—their Chairman of Committee—presided; but it was not until the 30th July, when the official opening by their President took place, that the Institution was formally and publicly started. This was accomplished under most gratifying circumstances. The President was then supported by Mr. J. J. Colman, M.P., the Vice-President, the Mayors and Deputy-Mayors of Norwich and Yarmouth, the Sheriff of Norwich, and by the Vicar of Yarmouth, who specially prepared and read an office for the occasion. It was then well stated “that children required something more than was provided in Hospitals in the shape of medicine and surgical treatment, if they were to fully recover. They wanted in addition the fresh air which was to be obtained in perfection at the seaside,” and the same authority added that “he thought the selection of Yarmouth as the site of the Institution a very wise one, as anyone who had been to the Home must have thought when he saw the wide expanse of beach, the good view of the sea, and sniffed the fresh air.”

The idea of starting and planting this Institution at Yarmouth has been warmly approved by Sir James Paget, Bart. (Sergeant-Surgeon to the Queen), who not only sent your Committee a very cheering letter but also enclosed a handsome donation.

Your Committee are deeply indebted to their Medical-Officer for the valuable services he has already rendered the Institution. His attention has been unremitting, and he has gratuitously furnished the medicines required.

The Great Eastern and The Eastern and Midlands Railway Companies have each granted special facilities for the conveyance of children to the Home, and this assistance your Committee desire cordially to acknowledge.

The Lady Caroline Kerrison, Miss Lucy Birkbeck, Miss Foster, Miss Bessie Hansell, Dr. Eade, and Mr. J. C. Barnham have become Life Governors of the charity.

To meet a real and pressing want this Children's Convalescent Home has been formed. Such an institution did not exist in the Eastern Counties. The Committee of Management therefore earnestly commend their undertaking to public sympathy and support, and they trust that their happy experience in the past may be repeated and be yet materially extended in the future. They would forcibly remind their friends that one guinea a year will place a poor child in the Home for one month, and that an annual subscription of £20, of which they are fortunate to have already an example, will secure a cot for the exclusive use of the subscriber.

In presenting the accounts it must be obvious that there are many items of expenditure that will not recur for some time ; still your Committee would strongly urge the necessity for further assistance, for the experience of the past six months' housekeeping proves that notwithstanding the most careful economy of management, much more is needed if only the present number of cots is to be maintained with efficiency. But they are not without hope that the public may yet encourage them to still further extend their capacity and power for good.

HONORARY MEDICAL-OFFICER'S REPORT.

From the opening of the Home for the reception of patients on May 26th, 1884, to the present time, there have been admitted 93 cases ; of these 70 were discharged well, 7 much benefited, 4 sent back in statu quo, 1 died, and 11 are at present under our care.

The class of cases shown to have derived most benefit from their stay at the Home are those of scrofulous affections, convalescence from acute diseases, and general debility.

There have been seven cases requiring special medical treatment, of which one ended fatally, viz., that of Caroline Plunkett, aged 9, admitted September 18th, convalescent from chorea, and who was subsequently attacked with abdominal inflammation and intestinal hæmorrhage, and, although most assiduously attended by Miss Turner and her trained assistant nurses, died on the 10th November, after an illness of five weeks' duration.

Although our patients do not as a rule require night nursing (and, therefore, a proportionally smaller nursing staff is needed than in the case of a hospital), still occasions have not unfrequently arisen during the past year in which perpetual night and day attendance has been imperative, and in these instances the pressure on our nurses has been very severe. I think some arrangement should be made by which, in such emergencies, the temporary services of an extra nurse for night duty might be obtained.

The general health of the children during their sojourn at the Home has been satisfactory, no contagious or infectious malady having manifested itself; nor has anything transpired to cause dissatisfaction with the existing sanitary arrangements.

W. E. WYLLYS, L.R.C.P., &c.,

Honorary Medical-Officer.

25, King Street, Great Yarmouth,

December 16th, 1884.

CHILDREN'S CONVALESCENT HOME FOR THE EASTERN COUNTIES.

FROM THE "EASTERN DAILY PRESS," JANUARY 17th, 1885.

During the week the annual meetings of the Norwich Jenny Lind Infirmary and the Yarmouth Convalescent Home have been held. It is well known that these institutions are provided for the relief and comfort of sick children. The former has the notable work of twenty-nine years to plead in its behalf. It is a full-grown tree with its annual and ample fruitage. The latter is a young sapling just planted, and requires all the care of the nurturing and nourishing hand. It has not yet had the advantage of a year's growth, but it is well rooted, and has not been without fruit. To drop the metaphor, the Convalescent Home at Yarmouth is the complement of the Infirmary at Norwich. At the one the children get medicine and the tenderness of the sick room; at the other they get the fresh air and the healthful delight that the breeze dashing over the crisp seas alone can give. The ladies and gentlemen of the city have taken up the work with earnestness and spirit. Since this time last year a pleasant home has been provided, costs have been purchased, a loving and skilful resident matron has been obtained, and ninety-three little children have been received under the fairy roof, and given for a time a dream of fairy land. Seventy of the children have been discharged well. This is very good for the experience of seven months. The larger patronage of the public would enable the promoters greatly to extend the blessings of the institution. A guinea keeps a child for a month. Twenty guineas give the happy donor the privilege of having a child constantly under the kindly matron's care. What is a guinea, or what are twenty guineas, to many of our rich citizens, when compared with the consciousness of being a helper to the helpless and of having stretched a fatherly or motherly hand over a poor sick child? It is to be hoped that under the favour of the residents of Norfolk and Norwich the new institution will grow till its advantages are increased ten-fold.
